

Client: Broadley Speaking, Tavistock

Sector: Sales and Marketing

Size: 70sqm

Brief: After working from home during and post pandemic, there was a desire from staff to return to the workplace. They wanted an office space where they could meet, collaborate, make calls and socialise. We were asked to review working practices and create a dynamic space that could accommodate a hybrid working environment.

Outcome: A comfortable and flexible furniture based solution that provides areas for team meetings and collaboration plus solo working points. This changeable space also includes a presenting area and an acoustic meeting booth for face to face meetings and team discussions.

Testimonial: “A great experience from start to finish. The result exceeded expectations and the team love their new work environment.” – Isabel Robson
